Did you know?

Interruptions to daily routines are common during the holiday season.

It may be tempting to put off some of your wound care appointments. However, increasing the time between visits can lead to decreased healing rates.

Research has shown that patients who were seen at least weekly throughout their treatment course had the highest rates of wound healing.¹²

KEEP YOUR SCHEDULED APPOINTMENTS THROUGH THE HOLIDAY SEASON

Timely detection and treatment of any wound can reduce risk of amputation and improve quality of life.
